

Question 1

What is the result of the following: `Name[0]`

Name= "Michael Jackson"

M	i	c	h	a	e	l		J	a	c	k	s	o	n
0	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13	14

1 / 1 point

☐

"n"

☐

"i"

☒

"M"

Correct

correct, The index 0 corresponds to the first index

Question 2

What is the result of the following: `Name[-1]`

Name= "Michael Jackson"

M	i	c	h	a	e	l		J	a	c	k	s	o	n
0	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13	14

1 / 1 point

☐

"M"

☐

"o"

☒

"n"

Correct

correct, the index -1 corresponds to the last index

Question 3

What is the output of the following: `print("AB\nC\nDE")`

1 / 1 point

☐

AB

CD

E

☒

AB

C

DE

☐

ABC

DE

Correct

correct when the print function encounters a `\n` it displays a new line

Question 4

What is the result of following?

`"hello Mike".find("Mike")`

If you are unsure, copy and paste the code into Jupyter Notebook and check. 1 / 1 point

☒

6

☐

5

☐

6,7,8

Correct

correct, the method finds the starting index of a substring